ABOUT

During my education at university, I have acquired basic skills of engineering such as; analytical thinking, algorithm analysis etc. I started to study on programming at end of my university education. And currently working as FullStack developer but time to time i work with mobile teams.

For most of my career, I've worked alone in frontend, so I had to learn most things about frontend on my own.

As a person, who is working in software field, my goal is to work as a FullStack developer and improve my skills in tech field.
